Hafsa Sohail — LinkedIn System

FASTECH's second voice on LinkedIn — built to pull DTC-founder clients

⚠️ This is Hafsa's own LinkedIn only. Not client work. Not anyone else's brand. (Mustafa's system stays exactly as-is — untouched.)

1. The Job

Two people from FASTECH posting = the agency looks staffed, alive, and trustworthy. A single founder voice can't do that. Hafsa's content pulls FASTECH's actual buyers (DTC/ecom founders) into DMs.

2. Who Her Content Is For

Primary: DTC / ecommerce FOUNDERS and brand owners (US/UK) — the people who HIRE FASTECH. Secondary (small slice): her own authority as a strategist.

THE TRAP:

Posting 'content strategy tips' or 'AI tools for SMMs' pulls other SMMs — not founders. ~62% of a typical feed is peers, not buyers. That's the 'reaching the world, not the right clients' problem.

THE FLIP:

Keep her real skill, point it at the FOUNDER'S problem (rising CPA, creative fatigue, dead hooks, flaky agencies), reporting from inside real ad accounts.

Peer post vs Buyer post

❌ Peer-pulling (avoid)	✅ Buyer-pulling (use)

Test every draft: would a founder spending $10k–$100k/mo on Meta stop, recognise their own problem, and think 'she's seen inside accounts like mine'? If only another SMM benefits → rewrite or drop.

3. Fix Her Profile FIRST

Headline: 'Creative Strategist @ FASTECH.PAK | Video + AI ad creative for DTC & ecommerce brands | What's working in Meta/TikTok ads right now.' NOT 'Content Manager / SMM' — that signals a peer.

About: who she helps (US/UK DTC owners), what she does (briefs, hooks, edits, AI variants, testing), what she sees (patterns across accounts), soft CTA.

Featured: 2–3 client ad clips (with permission), one teardown, link to FASTECH booking / Mustafa's profile.

4. Her 6 Pillars (all buyer-aimed)

What's working right now: hook/format/angle patterns across client ad accounts

Ad teardowns: a public DTC brand's live ad → hook, proof, CTA + 'what I'd test next'

Founder-problem posts: name one pain (creative fatigue, flat CTR) + her diagnosis

Behind-the-build: brief → script → edit → AI variations; QC; turnaround (shows reliability)

Proof posts: before/after hook or edit + result (with permission) — drives the most DMs

Occasional human/team post (~1 in 8): always tied back to client work, never pure 'SMM life'

5. Two Altitudes (Hafsa + Mustafa don't overlap)

Mustafa CLAIMS (the why / business / offer). Hafsa PROVES (the how / the actual work).

Each month: pick ONE company story. Both write it the same week from their own altitude. 15-min weekly sync to assign angles + check nothing duplicates.

6. Caption Format (long-form, tight)

• Hook — real, specific angle

• Real scene / client example (soft if no exact detail — never fabricate)

• Realization / turn

• Reframe — one sharp quotable line

• Specific engagement question

Short paragraphs, line breaks. No wall of text.

7. Conversion — Hafsa OPENS, Mustafa CLOSES

Hafsa ends posts help-first: 'DM me ADS and I'll tell you which hook I'd kill first.' Low pressure.

Lead magnets must be FOUNDER-shaped (audit checklist, '50 DTC hooks that scaled') — NOT SMM-shaped (content calendars = peer bait).

DM flow: reply <24h → give value first (3-bullet mini-audit) → ask ad spend + creative volume → if qualified, warm handoff to Mustafa. Founders close, operators open.

8. Cadence + The Commenting Engine

Post 2–3x/week. Never same morning as Mustafa.

THE HIDDEN LEVER: 20 min/day leaving REAL comments on 30–50 US/UK DTC founders' posts. Comments carry ~2x the weight of likes and put her in front of buyers. Never 'Great post!' — add a real detail.

Cross-engage with Mustafa only when adding something real. No fake pod engagement (LinkedIn penalises it).

9. Measure Buyer Share (not likes)

Weekly: how many profile views / DMs come from DTC founders vs SMMs? If peers still dominate after ~30 days, cut the pillar attracting them.
